Overview

This course provides the knowledge base required of an entrepreneur. In this course you will learn several key concepts of entrepreneurship with an emphasis on value creation through marketing, especially in the context of the new economy. Starting from the inception of a business idea by understanding the needs and wants of the marketplace, and to its execution, this course will provide participants, in addition to the knowledge base, a framework to understand the workings of a business. Students will learn the mechanics of writing a business plan that is the launch pad of a viable new enterprise. They will also be given the opportunity to hone their presentation skills.

Although this module is primarily designed for those keen to explore the possibility of going into business on their own, many large companies are beginning to adopt entrepreneurial thinking into their businesses. Many of the principles covered, for example in Bootstrap or Guerilla Marketing, are applicable to businesses large or small. Even large businesses need to continually innovate to compete, survive and succeed in a rapidly changing world.
