Overview

Emerging Markets have been driving global growth over the past decade. ASEAN alone has 650 million consumers, and marketing to them involves a mix of understanding multiple levers of old school and new age marketing –these economies are extremely dichotomous with both old world media and new age retail like ecommerce and digital media. Bain estimates that five years of digital transformation has happened in the course of one year in FY21. Marketing in Emerging markets therefore involves both a strong understanding and application of transferable and practical frameworks from traditional industries like Consumer Goods, as well as an up-to-date understanding of the key drivers of transformation around Digital Media, Online businesses and evolving models of Commerce

Module Objectives

The course will equip students to be well rounded and strategic marketers who will be able to develop and sharpen their skills on pricing, creativity, market sizing and business model evaluations as well as understand and plan for Media in emerging Markets.

Assessment

Assessment Components	Weightage
Class Participation	30%
Group Case Study
• Content	30%
• Individual Presentation	20%
Final Test	20%

Group Case Study

Students will be divided into 10 groups of 4 to 5 students each. Each group will be given a live industry case study to solve. There will be a total of 5 different such case studies randomly allocated across the 10 groups.

The presentation will be 10 minutes long, with 15 minutes for Q&A. All students will need to present. You will be graded on content (30%) and individual presentation (20%).

Each group will have to submit:

- A hardcopy of the report double-spaced and no more than 15 pages excluding Appendices and References
- A hardcopy of your Powerpoint slides
- On Week 11 even if your group is not presenting that week. This is to ensure equity across groups

Final Test

This will largely consist of MCQ and short-answer questions. More details to be given later.

Academic Honesty & Plagiarism

Academic integrity and honesty is essential for the pursuit and acquisition of knowledge. The University and School expect every student to uphold academic integrity & honesty at all times. Academic dishonesty is any misrepresentation with the intent to deceive, or failure to acknowledge the source, or falsification of information, or inaccuracy of statements, or cheating at examinations/tests, or inappropriate use of resources.

Plagiarism is “the practice of taking someone else’s work or ideas and passing them off as one’s own” (The New Oxford Dictionary of English). The University and School will not condone plagiarism. Students should adopt this rule - You have the obligation to make clear to the assessor which is your own work, and which is the work of others. Otherwise, your assessor is entitled to assume that everything being presented for assessment is being presented as entirely your own work. This is a minimum standard. In case of any doubt, you should consult your instructor.
