Recommended Learning Resources and Readings

Students must purchase and subscribe to McGraw-Hill CONNECT (online learning resources) for this module. CONNECT uses adaptive learning, an educational method that uses computer algorithms to optimise students' learning. It helps to custom the learning experience of students based on their understanding and competency to address the unique needs of each student.

Subscribing to CONNECT will give you access to course materials, videos and other online content. You will be advised of CONNECT fees during the first lecture. (Budget about $30-$40 to subscribe to CONNECT; a one-time payment.)

At the end of each assigned chapter/topic, students attempt short questions (for example, MCQs) to reinforce learning of concepts and understanding. You will also need to complete online simulation tasks as part of your learning and understanding of the course.

Your participation and completion of these weekly individual online learning tasks on CONNECT contribute towards your overall assessment.

Academic Honesty & Plagiarism

Academic integrity and honesty is essential for the pursuit and acquisition of knowledge. The University and School expect every student to uphold academic integrity & honesty at all times. Academic dishonesty is any misrepresentation with the intent to deceive, or failure to acknowledge the source, or falsification of information, or inaccuracy of statements, or cheating at examinations/tests, or inappropriate use of resources.

Plagiarism is 'the practice of taking someone else's work or ideas and passing them off as one's own' (The New Oxford Dictionary of English). The University and School will not condone plagiarism. Students should adopt this rule - You have the obligation to make clear to the assessor which is your own work, and which is the work of others. Otherwise, your assessor is entitled to assume that everything being presented for assessment is being presented as entirely your own work. This is a minimum standard. In case of any doubts, you should consult your instructor.
