Course Description

Transaction Banking is an area of corporate bank services aiming at serving the needs of corporate treasurers and helping companies manage their liquidity and working capital more efficiently and productively.

This course will provide students with a broad and deep knowledge about transaction banking and the tools and technologies available to corporate treasury management and financial service providers. It will also provide students with a good understanding of the value that transaction banks bring to large corporations in order to help them better manage their businesses.

The course is held in partnership with an international bank. Guest speakers from the bank will join the class to share industry knowledge and best practices, so that students are able to connect what they learn in the classroom with use cases and practices in the industry.

With the rapid growth of intra-Asia and cross-regional trades and investments in Asia, regional corporate treasury management has become an increasingly important activity for many multinational companies. As a result, Transaction Banking services have become one of the most important businesses in the banking industry.

This course will benefit students who are interested in acquiring knowledge and analytical skills that are relevant to banking, finance, financial and treasury management, corporate and business management, financial services consulting, Fintech, and financial services technology,

Topics Covered:

The following is the list of major topics that are covered in the course:

- Corporate Treasury Management

Prerequisites

FIN3701 Corporate Finance or Equivalent.

Assessment

The final grade for each student in this course is computed based on the following:

Component	Weightage
Class Participation & Assignments	15%
MCQ Test 1	30%
MCQ Test 2	30%
Group Project & Presentation	25%
Total	100%

Under Class Participation/Assignments students are rewarded for completing assignments, a learning journal, and participating in class discussions and guest speaker sessions. Class participation through the sharing of relevant perspectives, information, and experience is highly encouraged.

The MCQ Tests are open-book and require students to demonstrate that they have acquired sufficient knowledge and understanding about the materials taught in class to be able to apply them to the scenario provided in the Tests.

In Group Project Presentation, students will be split into small groups to carry out research and make presentations about selected topics. The projects provide the opportunities for the students to apply what they have learned in class to their research and analysis of the topics. The project presentations will be rated based on research insights (50%) and clarity of presentation (50%).

Textbook Reference

Most of the knowledge of Transaction Banking cannot be found in textbooks. However, having a good knowledge of Corporate Treasury Management helps students to understand the concepts and needs behind Transaction Banking and why various Transaction Banking products and services have their inherent demands in the corporate world.

Beyond the materials shared in lectures, the following reference books can provide students with deeper understanding to the various topics covered in the classes.

- “Corporate Cash Management” by Steven M. Bragg – Publisher: Accounting Tools.
- “Treasury Management: The Practitioner’s Guide” by Steven M. Bragg – Publisher: Wiley
- “The Handbook of Global Corporate Treasury” by Rajiv Rajendra - Publisher: Wiley.

Academic Honesty & Plagiarism

Academic integrity and honesty are essential for the pursuit and acquisition of knowledge. The University and School expect every student to uphold academic integrity & honesty at all times. Academic dishonesty is any misrepresentation with the intent to deceive, or failure to acknowledge the source, or falsification of information, or inaccuracy of statements, or cheating at examinations/tests, or inappropriate use of resources.

Plagiarism is 'the practice of taking someone else's work or ideas and passing them off as one's own' (The New Oxford Dictionary of English). The University and School will not condone plagiarism. Students should adopt this rule - You have the obligation to make clear to the assessor which is your own work, and which is the work of others. Otherwise, your assessor is entitled to assume that everything being presented for assessment is being presented as entirely your own work. This is a minimum standard. In case of any doubts, you should consult your instructor.
